GERMAN QUALITY FLOORING

Lookbook 26

Naturally beautiful flooring

Welcome to HARO.

Since 1866, wood has shaped the way we think and act. It is our heritage, our passion and our promise. As the market leader for parquet in Germany, we have played a decisive role in shaping the material wood into high-quality flooring – driven by innovation, craftsmanship and a deep understanding of quality. In Rosenheim, in the Upper Bavarian Alpine foothills, we create floors that unite nature, craftsmanship and contemporary design – made in Germany, deeply rooted and forward-looking.

We understand wood. That is why we create floors with character: authentic, durable and noticeably natural. For us, tradition and progress go hand in hand – driven by respect for the material and a sense of responsibility towards people and the planet. Our floors are more than just a surface. They are a feeling of home. This is the feeling we would like to share with you on the following pages.

We invite you to discover our values, our unique relationship with wood and the uncompromising quality of our floors.

MADE IN GERMANY. FOR YOUR HOME.

Developed and manufactured in Germany, HARO floors find their place where life happens – in your home. Wood is more than just a material. It is our passion. Its natural beauty, its warmth and its durability define every one of our floors.

From this deep connection arise surfaces you can see and feel. Floors with character, made to last for many years, even generations. Installed millions of times and valued worldwide, HARO floors prove their worth day after day – in everyday life and in special moments alike.

Manufacturing in Germany stands for trust and reliability. It makes every HARO floor a conscious choice: for quality, for lasting value and for a home that endures.

NATURALLY GROWN. PRECISELY CRAFTED.

Wood is a gift of nature. Each tree tells its own story – grown over decades, unique in structure and appearance. This is what makes every board of our parquet flooring unique. It is precisely this individuality that makes our floors so valuable and distinctive. Because we value this uniqueness, we treat wood with the utmost care. In our manufacturing, state-of-the-art, AI-assisted technologies come together with the irreplaceable expertise of experienced staff – with trained eyes, a sure feel and a genuine passion for the material.

Regular inspections and the utmost attention at every stage ensure that quality at HARO is never left to chance – but always a promise. For us, that goes without saying. And for you, the assurance of having made the right choice.

A FLOOR THAT SUITS YOUR LIFE.

A floor has to please – without question. But true quality is revealed in how well it accompanies your everyday life. It should suit your lifestyle, your rooms and your individual requirements. Today. Tomorrow. At every stage of your life.

Whether an elegant parquet floor for the bathroom, a confident choice for the kitchen, or a particularly durable surface for your office – such as Plank 1-Strip Oak with naturaDur High Performance surface finish – every home has different demands. And each one deserves the right solution.

We take a holistic approach to flooring. For every room, for different lifestyles and for everything that shapes your everyday life. The result is a floor that is not only beautiful, but exactly the right one for you.

Sustainability is part of our DNA.

For HARO, sustainability means a balanced interplay of ecological, economic and social responsibility – with the aim of preserving a liveable world for the long term. This commitment is firmly anchored in our DNA and shapes everything we do. We manufacture healthy, durable and high-quality floor coverings with great passion. Made in Germany. We consistently rely on renewable energy sources: electricity from hydro and solar power, as well as the use of waste heat from our production processes to generate energy. For our floors, we use certified wood from sustainably managed forests and deliberately avoid solvents in our surface finishes. Instead, we use natural oils and waxes – for healthy living environments and a responsible approach to nature. For us, these measures are not a marketing message, but a matter of course. Because those who respect and protect the environment act sustainably – today and for future generations.

ENERGY DRIVEN BY RESPONSIBILITY – FOR OVER A CENTURY.

Renewable energy has long been part of HARO’s company history. As early as 1898, electricity was generated from hydropower. We continue this tradition: since 2016, a modern hydropower plant has been supplying around 350 to 400 MWh of clean energy each year. Another key component is photovoltaics. With an installed capacity of 3,360 kWp HARO generates electricity for around 1,000 four-person households.

The system is complemented by thermal energy recovery and two biomass heating plants, which generate carbon-neutral energy and save around 70,000 tonnes of CO₂ each year. Today, our production facilities and administrative buildings are fully supplied with electricity and heat from renewable sources. This way, HARO combines technological innovation with sustainable responsibility.

SUSTAINABLE PRODUCTION.

For us, sustainability is not a trend, but a responsibility we live by. Every step of production follows the conviction that true quality can only be achieved in harmony with nature. The wood we use comes from sustainably managed forests and is PEFC-certified. It stands for a conscious use of resources and for products designed with the future in mind.

We also think ahead when it comes to packaging: PE films and cardboard packaging are fully recyclable and consistently integrated into a closed material cycle. In surface treatment, we rely on solvent-free coatings as well as natural oils and waxes. This keeps the material healthy, authentic and durable – for a quality you can see and feel. This commitment is supported by the use of AI-assisted machinery, intelligent software and high-precision measuring systems. They enable precise data collection, efficient processes and a noticeable reduction in material usage.

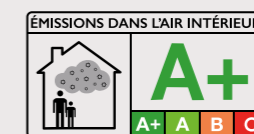

Sustainability is therefore not a promise, but the result of conscious decisions – day after day.

WE ARE READY. Plan with confidence with the Sustainability Product Passport.

The Sustainability Product Passport is now available for all HARO parquet, design and laminate floors. Developed by the TFI Institute Aachen, the passport provides planners, architects and developers with a sound and immediately usable basis for decision-making. At a glance, it shows which certification systems are relevant for each HARO product – and the specific contribution the flooring makes to building certification.

The sustainability performance of the products is clearly aligned with the most important national and international systems, including QNG, DGNB, LEED, BREEAM and BNB. This provides transparent insight into the criteria under which a HARO floor can be credited.

The decisive advantage: The SUSTAINABILITY PRODUCT PASSPORT significantly simplifies planning and documentation and thus also the application for funding, particularly in the context of QNG requirements. The documentation required for funding programmes is significantly simplified – all relevant information is structured and prepared in an audit-ready format. This saves time, reduces the coordination effort, and provides confidence throughout the certification process.

Choosing HARO means choosing not just high-quality flooring, but a future-proof solution that meets current and upcoming sustainability standards – and makes the path to certification and funding noticeably more straightforward.

HARO – sustainable thinking. Made for generations.

parkettmanufaktur by HARO.

THE HIGH ART OF PARQUET CRAFTSMANSHIP.

parkettmanufaktur by HARO stands for the premium segment of the HARO brand and represents the highest quality, exclusivity and perfect craftsmanship in high-quality wood flooring. This is where exclusive parquet is created, which is finished by hand with the utmost care. The result is unique floors with a distinctive appearance – possibly the finest parquet you can buy.

As part of the range offered by Germany's leading parquet manufacturer, parkettmanufaktur by HARO combines modern production with traditional craftsmanship. These floors express lasting values such as freedom, spaciousness and a sense of openness, along with durability and timeless elegance. At the same time, they reflect tradition, authenticity and genuine craftsmanship.

One of their defining features is the opportunity for individual customisation. Traditional techniques such as hand-planing or hand-brushing give each parquet element a unique surface and a distinctly natural character.

Finishing with high-quality oleovera natural oil creates an elegant look and a durable surface that protects the wood and enhances its natural appearance.

PARQUET.

The original for 75 years.

A home is not built in a day. It grows with the people who live in it. Through new chapters in life, through closeness, through change. A floor accompanies all of this – quietly, reliably, every day.

For over 75 years, HARO has been developing 3-layer parquet for every stage of life. As a pioneer of this construction method and manufactured in Germany, HARO stands for floors that offer more than good looks. They can be installed easily and cleanly, integrate effortlessly into modern living concepts, and create a sense of security and home from the very first day.

When life gets lively – with family, everyday routines and movement – the floor stays composed. Pleasant underfoot, suitable for underfloor heating, and made for rooms that see a great deal of use. And when tastes change – when a new style or a new chapter begins – the floor can be replaced just as easily.

This is how a floor becomes a companion.

One that moves with you. One that stays. And leaves room for change.

OAK. A CLASSIC WITHOUT AN EXPIRY DATE.

Oak has been the first choice for parquet flooring for years – and still is. Its timeless beauty blends naturally into any interior style and lends rooms calm, warmth and character. Its structure is balanced, its expression versatile. From discreet and calm to lively to expressive and rustic, there are different appearances – characterised solely by the grading of the wood.

It's a question of style. Not of quality.

A SENSE OF SPACE YOU CAN FEEL.

The format of a floorboard defines the character of a room. It creates a sense of calm, opens up new perspectives and lends the home a distinctive character. Classically balanced or deliberately spacious – both variants express timeless elegance. The bevelled edges on all four sides subtly define each board, giving the floor depth and character.

A difference that transforms rooms.

Calm. Natural. Made to last.

COLOUR THAT SETS THE MOOD.

Alongside wood type and format, the colour of a floor defines the atmosphere of a room. It can create lightness or depth, radiate warmth or convey a sense of modern calm. Light or dark. White or grey. Every nuance tells its own story, giving your home a character that is entirely your own. Your decision, guided by instinct alone.

A floor as individual as your home.

FOR THOSE WHO GO THEIR OWN WAY.

Oak is a classic – popular, timeless, trusted. But not every home tells the same story. For those seeking something special, other wood types offer a character all of their own. Beech, fir or ash: native timbers, grown in our forests, shaped by individual structures and a character that is unmistakably their own. They bring lightness, expression or a gentle sense of calm to a room – and give your home an individual touch.

A floor that fits.

As individual as you are.

VIBRANCY THAT BRINGS ROOMS TO LIFE.

Not every home calls for the calm spaciousness of Plank 1-Strip flooring. Sometimes a floor can show movement, introduce a sense of dynamism and add energy to a space. Longstrip flooring thrives on its variety. Three offset rows of top layer strips create a lively overall appearance, adding variety and depth. The result is a floor with character – present, but never overpowering. This keeps the interior at the centre, while the floor sets a vibrant stage. A reliable choice for those who want to shape a space without sacrificing its calm.

A floor that brings a room to life – and adds personality to your home.

2-layer Parquet.

FOR THE HIGHEST STANDARDS OF QUALITY,
DESIGN AND RESPONSIBILITY.

A floor shapes rooms – and shows commitment. Our 2-layer parquet is designed for those who value uncompromising quality and make conscious choices. Sustainably manufactured, it combines craftsmanship with modern technology.

The two-layer construction, consisting of a stable core of solid spruce strips and a high-quality hardwood wear layer makes 2-layer parquet an ecological alternative to solid wood parquet. Significantly less hardwood is used, while delivering identical technical performance: durable, stable and retaining in value.

The glue-down installation creates a firm connection with the subfloor. This ensures excellent heat transfer – ideal for underfloor heating – as well as reduced impact noise and a calm, solid feel underfoot. Glue-down installation should always be carried out by a qualified installer. A wide range of laying patterns opens up individual design possibilities – from classic to modern.

A floor for people with high standards.
Timeless. Sustainable. Uncompromising.

DESIGN FLOOR. THE SMART AND VERSATILE ONE.

To put it simply: a floor that does it all. Our design floor combines ecological responsibility, high functionality and a homely aesthetic in a well-balanced overall concept.

It is consistently sustainable, 100% free from PVC and plasticisers, and certified with all relevant environmental labels. Visually, it matches the look of genuine parquet, while offering a pleasantly soft feel underfoot.

In everyday use, it is easy to care for and resistant to water, making it ideal for modern living. And because wood is part of our DNA, this floor clearly bears our signature too – its stable middle layer is naturally made from wood. A material we truly master – lending the floor its natural look, exceptional stability and the flexibility of simple floating installation or full glue-down installation (DISANO Project). Many call it vinyl – we don't. DISANO is deliberately called Design Floor, because it does not contain vinyl. Instead, the top layer is free from harmful substances. It is free from PVC and free from plasticisers. And that is exactly why we do not call it anything else. DISANO stands for modern living and commitment. For floors that look good, feel good, and give you peace of mind when it comes to a healthy living environment. And when it comes to design? No compromises. The styles are contemporary, full of character and often one step ahead. Not by chance but by design.

LAMINATE FLOOR. The alternative.

Laminate flooring impresses with its intelligent combination of sustainability, design and suitability for everyday use. It consists of over 90 per cent wood, making it an inherently ecological flooring option.

Visually, modern laminate floors are almost indistinguishable from real parquet. At the same time, it proves significantly more robust in everyday use and particularly easy to maintain. High-quality surfaces are resistant to scratches, impacts and intensive use – ideal for an active life.

Thanks to moisture-resistant variants, laminate flooring is also ideal for areas such as kitchens or hallways where durability matters. With its convincing product qualities, it offers an attractive price-performance ratio and provides a high-quality, yet cost-effective alternative to parquet.

A floor for real life – functional, durable and timeless in design.

HARO Parquet 3-Strip XL Plaza 240
 Oak Naturale brushed

A close-up photograph of a hand sifting a fine stream of light-colored wood dust over a long, light-colored wooden plank. The dust is captured in mid-air, creating a soft, ethereal cloud. The background is dark, making the dust and wood stand out. The overall mood is one of craftsmanship and care.

Thank you for your trust.

Ultimately, what matters is not just how something is made – but what endures. A floor that stays for generations. A material that radiates warmth and shapes a room. And a feeling that reveals itself anew, day after day.

To us, wood is more than just a raw material. It is a piece of permanence in a fast-moving world. Carefully selected, responsibly crafted and manufactured with the ambition to bring you lasting enjoyment.

We truly value that you have chosen us. That is why we give our best every day – because a product should become a home.
